

ABSTRACT

A method of treatment for preventing or inhibiting growth of cancer cells utilizes an antineoplastic composition including an antineoplastic-effective amount of a methylol transfer agent (MTA) in combination with biodegradable adhesive capable of adhering to tissue of a living subject.

1194-280-appn